

A SNAPSHOT OF PRIORITIES & PERSPECTIVES UK Academic Libraries

OCLC conducted a member survey to understand librarians' top priorities, current key initiatives, thoughts on service and top methods for keeping current on happenings in the library field.

Respondents by library type

Total respondents (n=279)

Most UK academic library staff:

- Anticipate the top reason faculty and students are using their library will shift in five years
- Consider delivering e-books and other e-resources to be their top priority
- Rely on listservs to keep informed about library trends.

Addressing facilities issues is the most popular initiative for the current year.

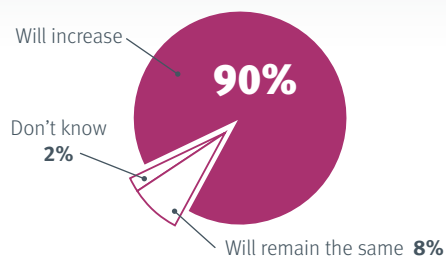

Today, borrowing books and other materials is considered the primary reason both faculty and students use the library. Many staff expect that to change in five years, when the top priority for faculty will be accessing online databases and journals, and for students, completing assignments.

If you would like to read similar reports about libraries in Germany, the Netherlands or the U.S., see the reports at www.oclc.org/reports.

Use of the online library will increase

Nine out of ten UK academic library staff expect use of the online library to increase in the next two years. Far fewer, however, expect an increase in foot traffic to their physical locations.

90% expect use of the online library will increase

38% expect use of the physical library will increase

User demand expected to change

Academic library staff report that borrowing books and other materials is the main reason faculty and students use the library today. These staff anticipate a change in five years, when the main reason for faculty will be accessing online databases and journals, and for students it will be completing assignments.

Faculty demand expected to change. UK academic staff anticipate the primary reason faculty use the library will change from borrowing materials to accessing online databases and journals in the next five years.

The primary reason faculty use the library today...

The primary reason faculty use the library in five years will.....

52% Anticipate a change in the top reason faculty use the library.

Top reasons faculty will use the library in the next five years...

Student demand expected to change. UK academic staff anticipate the primary reason students use the library will change in the next five years from borrowing materials to completing assignments.

The primary reason students use the library today...

The primary reason students use the library in five years will...

66% Anticipate a change in the top reason students use the library.

Top reasons students will use the library in the next five years...

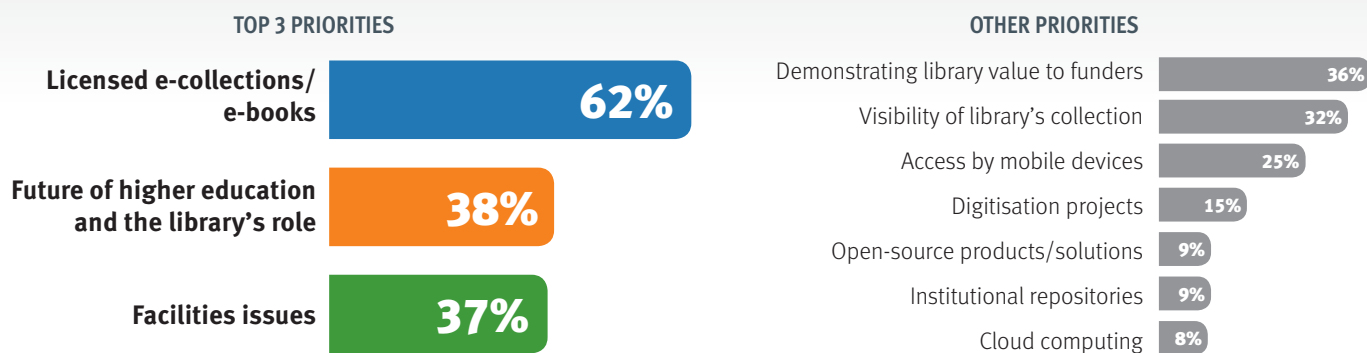

Top priority: delivering e-resources

Top initiatives: buildings/facilities and discovery tools

UK academic libraries are focused on delivering e-books and other e-resources as their top priority. Current initiatives include addressing buildings/facilities issues and implementing discovery tools.

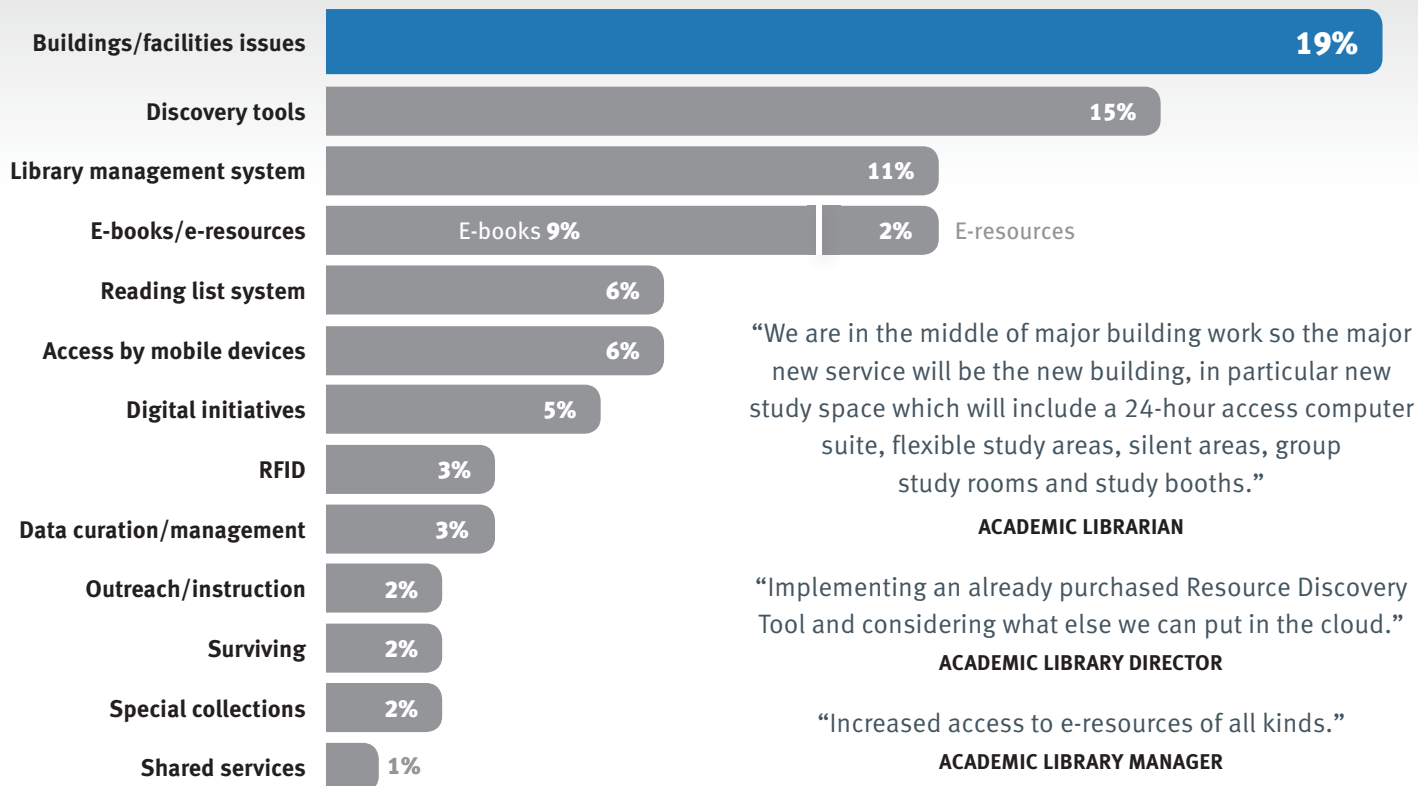

Top priorities: Delivering e-content—e-books and other e-resources—is the top priority for many academic library staff, while determining the library’s role in the future of higher education and addressing buildings/facilities issues round out the top three.

Top priorities by academic library respondents

Facilities issues and resource discovery are top initiatives today:

Building/facilities projects and discovery tools are the most popular new initiatives this year.

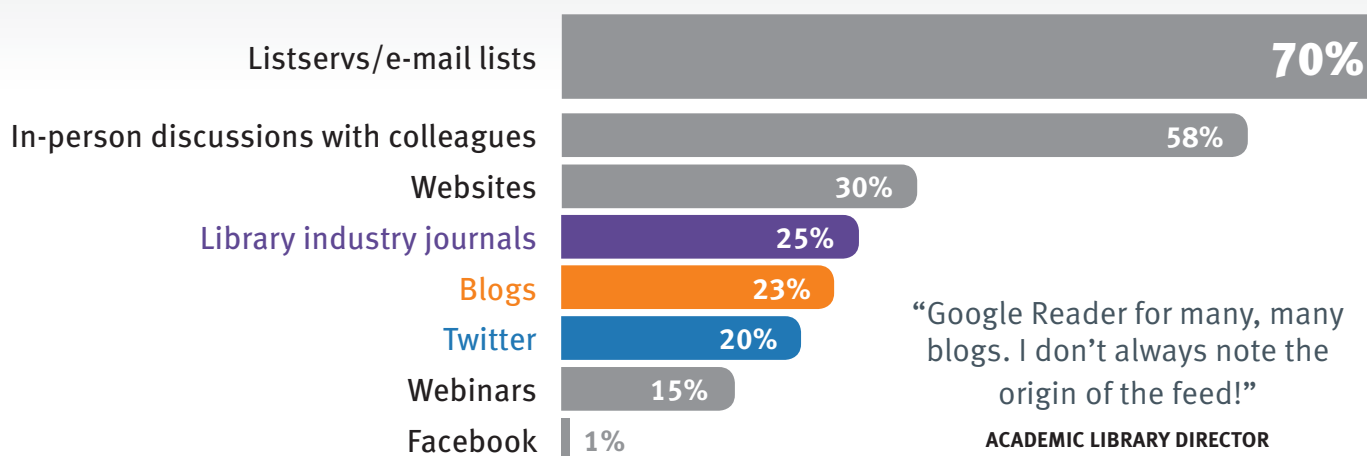

Listservs still hot

UK academic library staff rely primarily on listservs and e-mail for library information.

Listservs are top sources of information: Listservs and e-mail lists top the list of sources UK academic library staff rely on for staying informed about the library industry. Around a quarter of staff also rely on journals, blogs and Twitter as top sources.

Percentage of UK academic library staff who selected the following sources as one of their top three

Do UK academic library staff read blogs and journals or follow Twitter to stay informed?

Nearly three-quarters of UK academic library staff read journals

71%
read journals
to keep current with library trends

Top 3 journals

- CILIP Update
- Information World Review
- The Bookseller

Half of UK academic library staff read blogs

50%
read blogs
to keep current
with library trends

Top 3 blogs

- Lorcan Dempsey’s Weblog
- Phil Bradley’s weblog
- Planet Cataloging

Twitter slow to take off

67%
do not use Twitter
as a way to keep up
with library trends

Top 3 Twitter handles

- Lorcan Dempsey (@lorcanD)
- JISC (@JISC)
- Marshall Breeding (@mbreeding)