It lets you create a unique collection of full-text eBooks plus eAudiobooks and streamlines your acquisition process. Using TitleSelect™, you can search and browse titles, build custom title lists and order online—all from a single place.

Getting Started with TitleSelect™

If you are a library staff member with a current NetLibrary account, your existing user name and password will provide access to TitleSelect™. When logging in for the first time, you will be prompted to update your NetLibrary profile. Libraries new to NetLibrary may obtain a user name and password by creating a free account at the TitleSelect™ Web site.

How to Use TitleSelect™

After logging into TitleSelect™, you can search for specific titles, browse new eBook and eAudiobook titles, view NetLibrary Special Collections and create custom title lists.

Quick and Advanced Search Functions

Perform a quick search by keyword, author, title or subject. With the advanced search option you can perform more extensive searches by building search queries using Boolean operators plus a variety of search criteria such as title, author, subject, keyword, full text, format and publisher. Searches may also be limited to new titles added within the last 60 days.

Browse New eBook & eAudiobook Content

Browse new content added to the NetLibrary catalog in the previous 60 days by clicking on a subject category listed on the home page.

View Special eBook Collections

Special Collections are lists of eBook titles created by NetLibrary's collection librarians. Updated monthly, these collections are organized by library type and cover a broad range of subject areas. Complete collections are available for academic, public, corporate, school, corporate and government libraries, plus special collections that help you promote calendar-driven literacy and cultural awareness events.

Create a Custom eContent Title List

TitleSelect's features allow you to create, save and manage eBook and eAudiobook title lists. You can create and save a title list from search results. Saved title lists may be appended by adding or removing titles. More than one custom list may be saved under a unique name. Saved lists may be exported by e-mail or downloaded onto your computer.

Order NetLibrary eContent Titles

You can submit a saved eBooks and eAudiobooks title list as an order. Once you have placed your order, a confirmation will display that includes a tracking number and an order acknowledgment for your library.

You'll also receive an e-mail order confirmation, to let you know that we have successfully received your order.

Check the progress of your order from the TitleSelect™ Web site using the Track Your Submitted Orders feature.
