Year of the dragon?

2005 IS ACTUALLY THE YEAR OF THE ROOSTER, BUT YOU can find good fortune due to a partnership with Dragonsource.com. NetLibrary now features a new subscription service to the most popular magazines and journals published in mainland China.

The Dragonsource.com database of Chinese-language magazines consists of more than 1,100 titles that span 34 subject areas. The collection includes hundreds of respected humanities journals, English-language titles published in China, business and trade journals and more. Issues are updated on an ongoing basis, with many magazines available online before the print edition publication date. All articles are fully indexed and can be searched by author, title or keyword.
