

Creating Direct Links to Content in WorldCat.org and WorldCat Local

Libraries can create URLs that will allow users to go directly to the library's Advanced Search screen to search either a single database or a group of databases. Here are the steps to create a URL:

1. Use the base template <http://abclibrary.worldcat.org/advancedsearch?dblist=> and replace "abclibrary" with the library's WorldCat.org prefix; i.e., "osu" or "metropolitanlibrary"
2. Enter the database ID from the list below after the "=" sign.
3. To create a URL that links to a database group, enter the first database ID followed by "%2C" and the next database ID. The %2C is the equivalent of a comma, and can be used between as many database IDs as desired. An example is: <http://abclibrary.worldcat.org/advancedsearch?dblist=119%2C121>
4. When a patron clicks on the newly-created URL, he/she will be taken to the library's Advanced Search screen. The list of databases represented by the IDs in the URL will display and be searched.

When a patron clicks on the newly-created URL, he/she will be taken to the library's Advanced Search screen. The list of databases represented by the IDs in the URL will display and be searched. OCLC databases are available via WorldCat.org and WorldCat Local for any subscribers. Non-OCLC databases are available only to WorldCat Local subscribers.
