Turning Knowledge into Value – Strategic Directions to 2030

BILL MACNAUGHT, NATIONAL LIBRARY OF NEW ZEALAND
Bill Macnaught
National Librarian, National Library of New Zealand
MIT - The future of libraries

Turning Knowledge into Value

The National Library will create cultural and economic value for New Zealanders through leadership and collaboration.

We will remove barriers to knowledge, ensure New Zealanders have the skills to create knowledge and preserve knowledge for future generations.
Our approach

Taonga  Reading  Knowledge
This is the kind of place that used to do me good. Only you observe we are driven from the sea, and I am sitting with my back to you by the house to watch the waves.

Rg.
“Documentary heritage belongs to all”

Frank La Rue (UNESCO Assistant Director-General for Communication and Information, 2016)
TE KAHITI TUTURU
KO
Aotearoa, me te Waipounamu.

Te Waka Maori
Hoia te waka ha

Te Puke Ki Hikurangi

Te Paki o Matariki
The Knowledge System

Problems

Shared agenda

Benefits

Levers
Thank you

Bill Macnaught
NATIONAL LIBRARY OF NEW ZEALAND

Bill.macnaught@dia.govt.nz
@bmacnz