All of Us Research Program: Mission and Objectives

Nurture relationships with one million or more participants, from all walks of life, for decades

Our mission

To accelerate health research and medical breakthroughs, enabling individualized prevention, treatment, and care.

Deliver the largest, richest biomedical data set ever that is easy, safe, and free to access

Catalyze a robust ecosystem of researchers and funders hungry to use and support it

Diverse Dataset: Those Underrepresented in Biomedical Research

Improving Health Information on Wikipedia

Liz Waltman

National Network of Libraries of Medicine
Southeastern/Atlantic Region

Liz Waltman

Outreach, Education and Communications
Coordinator, National Network of Libraries of Medicine, Southeastern Atlantic Region

Agenda

- Describe why Wikipedia is an important health information resource
- Share experiences and takeaways from #CiteNLM
- Identify tools and resources for hosting an edit-a-thon

Why Wikipedia?

Why Wikipedia?

- 5th most visited website in the world
- Shared values: librarians and editors value open access, good citations, and accurate information
- Relevant to all types of libraries

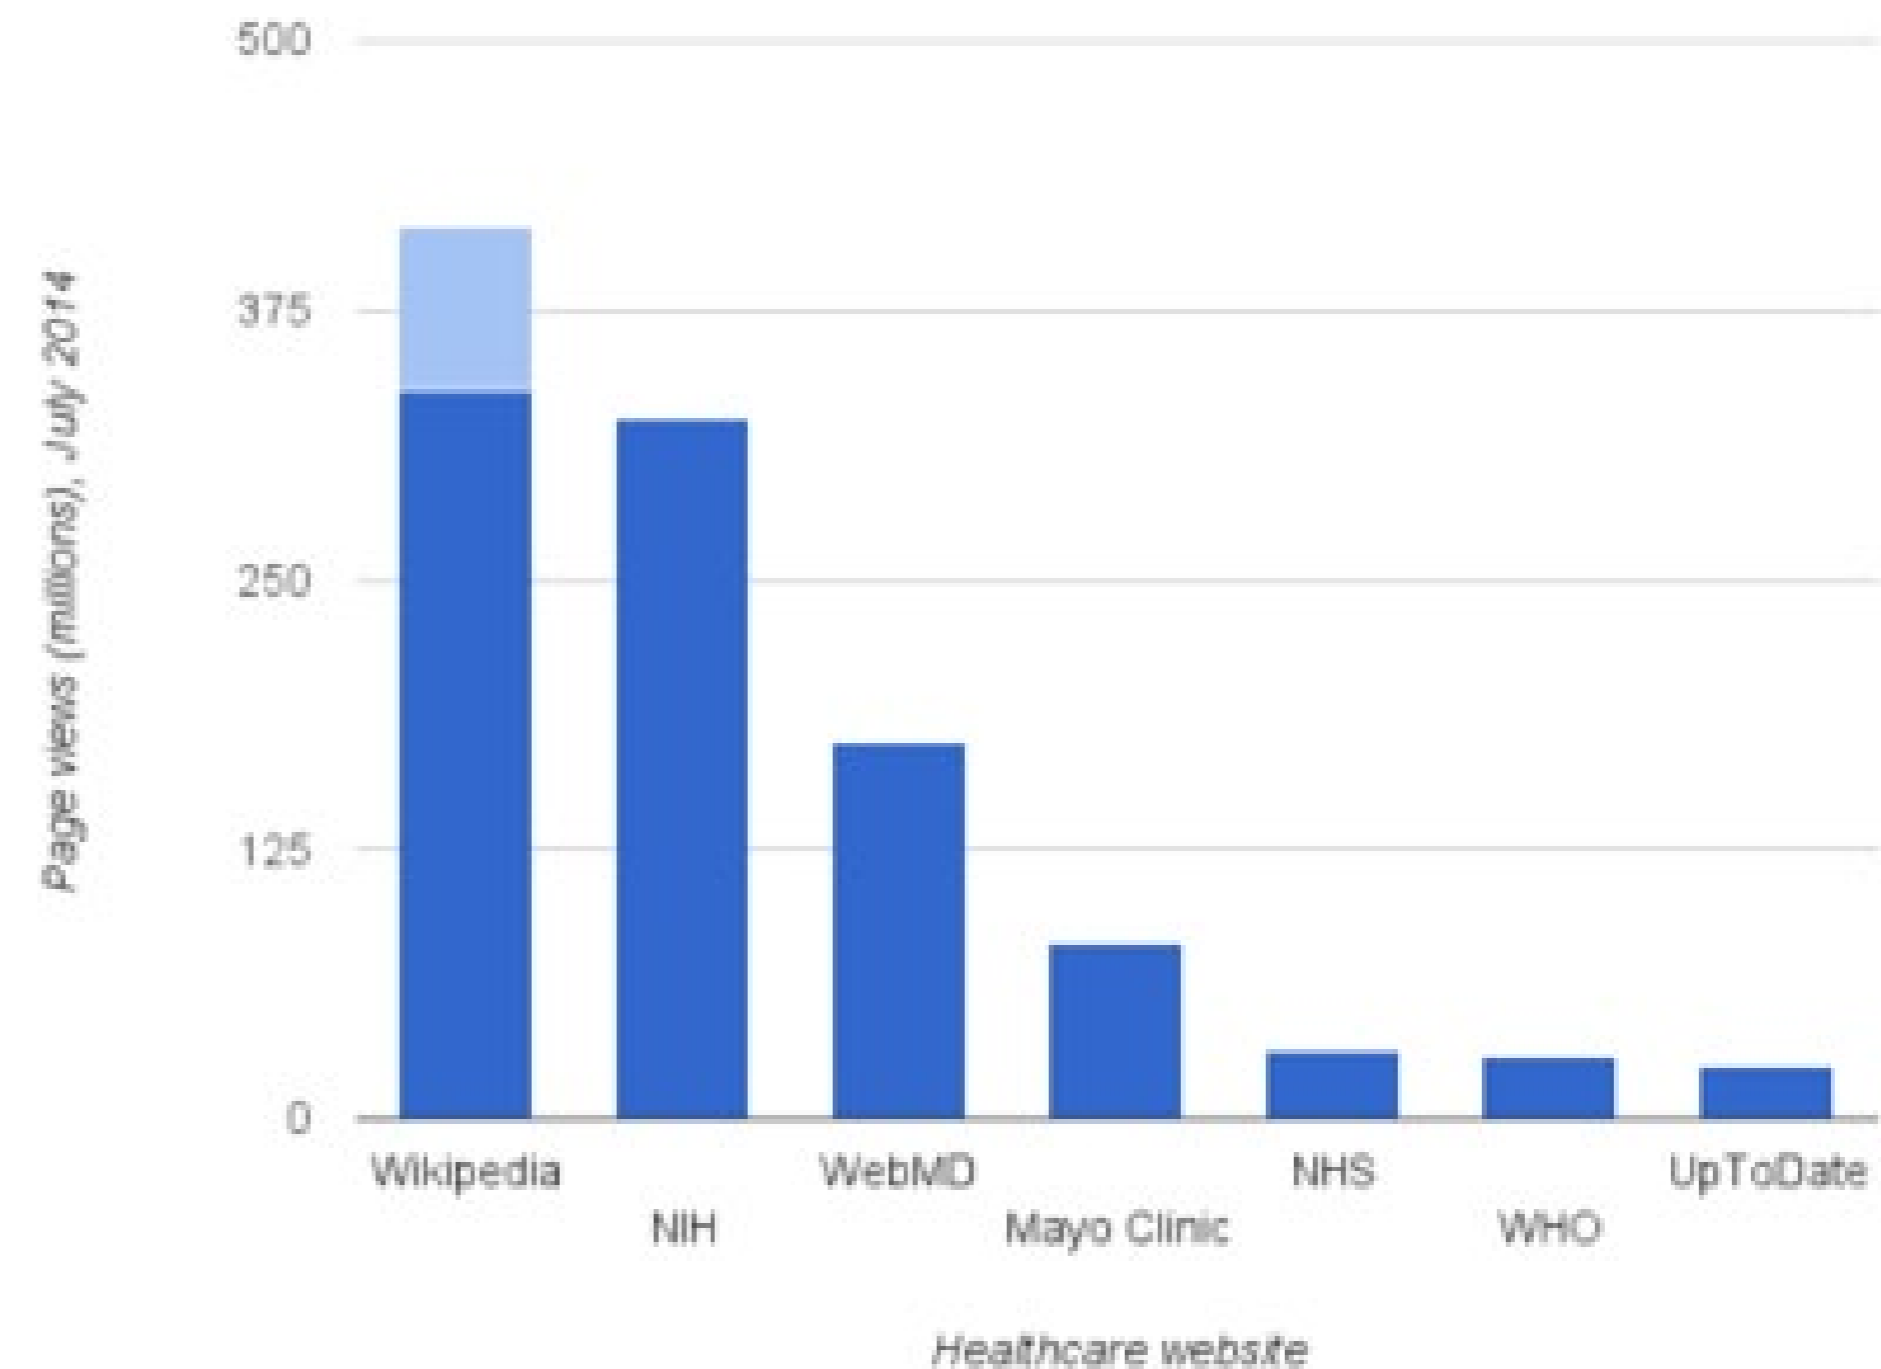

Why Wikipedia?

- The average American visits the doctor three times per year, but spends 52 hours a year searching for health information on the internet
- 8 in 10 online health inquiries start at a search engine
- Wikipedia has more than 164,000 health topic pages that are viewed 7 billion times a year

Why Wikipedia?

- 50% to 70% of physicians use Wikipedia
- 94% of medical students use Wikipedia
- Used by 20% to 60% of journalists
- Frequently used by policy makers

#CiteNLM

#CiteNLM

NLM is actively engaged in reaching a major strategic goal to “reach more people in more ways through enhanced dissemination and engagement pathways.”

By holding Wikipedia Edit-a-thons, we can:

- Improve the use of NLM and other open access resources
- Engage NNLM members nationwide
- Make Wikipedia a better, evidence-based resource

#CiteNLM

Three past events:

- Rare Diseases - Spring 2018
- Women's Health - Fall 2018
- Health Equity - Spring 2019

In total, our 136 editors have:

- Made 1,575 edits
- Edited 357 articles
- Created 25 new articles

Hosting an Edit-a-Thon

Hosting an Edit-a-Thon

1. Select a date and time
2. Find a venue
3. Select a topic
4. Identify open access resources
5. Involve your community

The Five Pillars of Wikipedia

The diagram illustrates the Five Pillars of Wikipedia, each represented by an icon and a principle:

- It's an encyclopedia (Icon: A globe with an open book)
- Neutral point of view (Icon: A balance scale)
- Free to use, edit and share (Icon: A puzzle piece)
- Respectful and civil decorum (Icon: A speech bubble with a smiley face)
- No firm rules (Icon: A lightbulb)

Utilize existing trainings, presentations, and materials for your event!

Hosting an Edit-a-Thon

Tips and Best Practices:

- Have participants create Wikipedia accounts in advance
- Test run all technology including WiFi or virtual meeting rooms
- Consider a broad topic for your edit-a-thon
- Create a dashboard for the event

Hosting an Edit-a-Thon

Join us for future #CiteNLM Edit-a-Thons!

- Mental Health - Fall 2019
- Join us for our virtual edit-a-thon on Wednesday, November 20
- Host your own event between October 1 - November 30

Interested in hosting your own event?
