Collections available in the WorldCat knowledge base

The WorldCat knowledge base provides access to records for electronic materials from numerous providers. The knowledge base is updated continually through contributions from content providers, library staff and OCLC.

This table provides information about the collections available in the WorldCat knowledge base. This information includes:

Provider ID (provider_uid):

The identification code used in the WorldCat knowledge base for each content provider. Each content provider has a unique ID code that can be used to search for the collection in the knowledge base administrative interface.

Provider name (provider_name):

The name of the content provider or platform.

Collection ID (collection_uid):

The ID code used to describe each collection in the WorldCat knowledge base. This code can also be used to search for these collections.

Collection name (collection_name):

This column provides the commonly known name for each content collection.

Available entries (available_entries):

This number indicates the number of titles included in the global version of each collection.

Percentage of OCLC number coverage (oclc_number_coverage)

This number indicates the percentage of items in the collection that contain an OCLC number. Items that contain an OCLC number can have holdings set in WorldCat and/or have MARC records output.

Open access (openaccess):

Collections with “yes” in this column contain only open-access content.

Customizable (customizable):

This column indicates whether library staffs can select subsets of a total collection. A “yes” means that subsets can be selected, and a “no” means the collection may be selected only in its entirety.
