REIMAGINE DESCRIPTIVE WORKFLOWS:
Generating Lasting, Meaningful Change in Libraries & Archives

Why are we reimagining descriptive workflows, and why now?
OCLC is hosting a virtual, three-day convening June 22-24, 2021 (see detailed information). This convening seeks to bring together a diverse group of practitioners to begin laying the groundwork for lasting, meaningful change in this foundational area of cultural memory, preservation, and discovery.

Description, subject analysis, classification, authority control, and cataloging practices are part of a powerful naming and labeling process in bibliographic description. Most bibliographic databases are laden with outdated, harmful, and

The screenshot displays the OCLC University search interface. At the top, the OCLC University logo is on the left, and a search bar contains the query 'su: Gender non-conforming children'. To the right of the search bar is a 'Sign in for the full experience. Sign in' button. Below the search bar, a navigation bar includes 'Advanced Search', 'Course Reserves', and 'Resources'. A secondary bar shows 'Retain Filters' and 'Clear Filters' buttons, along with the text 'About 3 results in Libraries Worldwide'. On the right side of this bar are links for 'Save search', 'Test Search alert CTA custom text', 'Search history', and 'Saved Items (0)'. The left sidebar contains a 'Sort: Recency' dropdown and a 'Search Results Display' section. Below this is an 'Expand This Search With' section and a 'Held By Library' section with a list of libraries, including 'Libraries Worldwide' (checked) and 'OCLC WorldShare Management Services - Test Library'. The main content area shows a search result for the article 'Raising a Gender Non-Conforming Child' by Deborah L. Wisnowski. The article is from 'Child and Adolescent Psychiatric Clinics of North America' (v20 n4 (2011): 757-766). The 'Subjects' section is highlighted with a red box and lists 'Agender children' and 'Non-binary children'. The result is attributed to 'At OCLC WorldShare Management Services - Test Library'.
