Public libraries are essential to communities

55% view the library as an essential local institution
58% believe public libraries advance education for any community
44% view the library as a gathering place for community members

Majority of voters support local funding for libraries

58% would vote favorably for libraries at the ballot box
27% would definitely vote in favor
31% would probably vote in favor

Public libraries are essential to communities

55% view the library as an essential local institution
58% believe public libraries advance education for any community
44% view the library as a gathering place for community members

From Awareness to Funding

Voter Perceptions and Support of Public Libraries in 2018

A new survey of US voters commissioned by OCLC, the American Library Association, and its Public Library Association division offers valuable insights on current voter perceptions as public libraries continue to strategize for the future. Read on for a selection of key survey findings.

Voters frequently visit libraries in person and online

70% of voters have visited a public library in the last year, an average of 8.6 visits
52% have visited the library’s website in the last year, an average of 7.6 visits

Most voters support local funding for libraries

55% 58% 44%
quiet areas
67%
a broad range of materials to explore 65%
books and technology
65%
computers and internet

Majority of voters support local funding for libraries

58% would vote favorably for libraries at the ballot box
27% would definitely vote in favor
31% would probably vote in favor

Most voters are confused about library funding sources

59% of voters think most library funding comes from nonlocal sources
In reality, 86% of funding comes from local sources (IMLS, 2011)

Voters support other funding options

Most voters support federal funding

76% say the federal government should either...
38% increase funding for public libraries
28% or keep it the same

The majority of voters are willing to donate money to libraries

61% have either...
28% contributed
33% or are willing to contribute to fundraising efforts in support of their local libraries

Voter Perceptions and Support of Public Libraries in 2018

A new survey of US voters commissioned by OCLC, the American Library Association, and its Public Library Association division offers valuable insights on current voter perceptions as public libraries continue to strategize for the future. Read on for a selection of key survey findings.

Most voters support federal funding

76% say the federal government should either...
38% increase funding for public libraries
28% or keep it the same

The majority of voters are willing to donate money to libraries

61% have either...
28% contributed
33% or are willing to contribute to fundraising efforts in support of their local libraries

Read the full report to learn more!

Visit oc.lc/awareness2018 to discover the variations in attitudes, perceptions, and behaviors among different segments of the voting public over the past ten years and how that drives their support for libraries today.

Sources:
Data from a survey panel of 2,000 US voters ages 18 to 69 living in areas with populations of fewer than 300,000, administered by Leo Burnett USA between September 29 and October 4, 2017. This research and report is a project led by OCLC, the American Library Association, and its Public Library Association division. OCLC, the American Library Association, and its Public Library Association division, and the Institute of Museum and Library Services did not participate in the design or development of this research.

Visit oc.lc/awareness2018 to discover the variations in attitudes, perceptions, and behaviors among different segments of the voting public over the past ten years and how that drives their support for libraries today.

Sources:
Data from a survey panel of 2,000 US voters ages 18 to 69 living in areas with populations of fewer than 300,000, administered by Leo Burnett USA between September 29 and October 4, 2017. This research and report is a project led by OCLC, the American Library Association, and its Public Library Association division. OCLC, the American Library Association, and its Public Library Association division, and the Institute of Museum and Library Services did not participate in the design or development of this research.