

Find what you want in WorldCat

Know the news, not just the headlines

There's no denying that newspapers and Web-based news sites are great sources for up-to-the-minute coverage. But where do you go for in-depth coverage of a subject? From multiple angles? Your library and WorldCat, of course.

Search any subject. Find books, Web sites and more. Chances are you'll see quite a bit of information. Locate recent materials and older materials that provide a historical perspective on a topic.

CURRENT EVENTS

What you can find

- In-depth news articles
- History books
- Maps of countries and regions of the world
- Hot Topics links to recently published materials
- Video documentaries
- Government reports
- Newspapers from around the world
- Almanacs

Let's get started!

1. Ask a librarian to help you bring up a WorldCat search screen on a library workstation, or visit www.worldcat.org from your computer at home or work.
2. Enter a keyword such as subject, title or a person's name and click Search. Click on the title of an item that interests you to learn more about it.
3. Inside the library, you can follow a link to our online catalog to see if the item is available. On worldcat.org, enter your location and click on the name of this library or another nearby library.

A librarian can help you use WorldCat or locate the item you want.

WorldCat is the world's largest database of library collections