PIDapalooza, Girona, January 2018

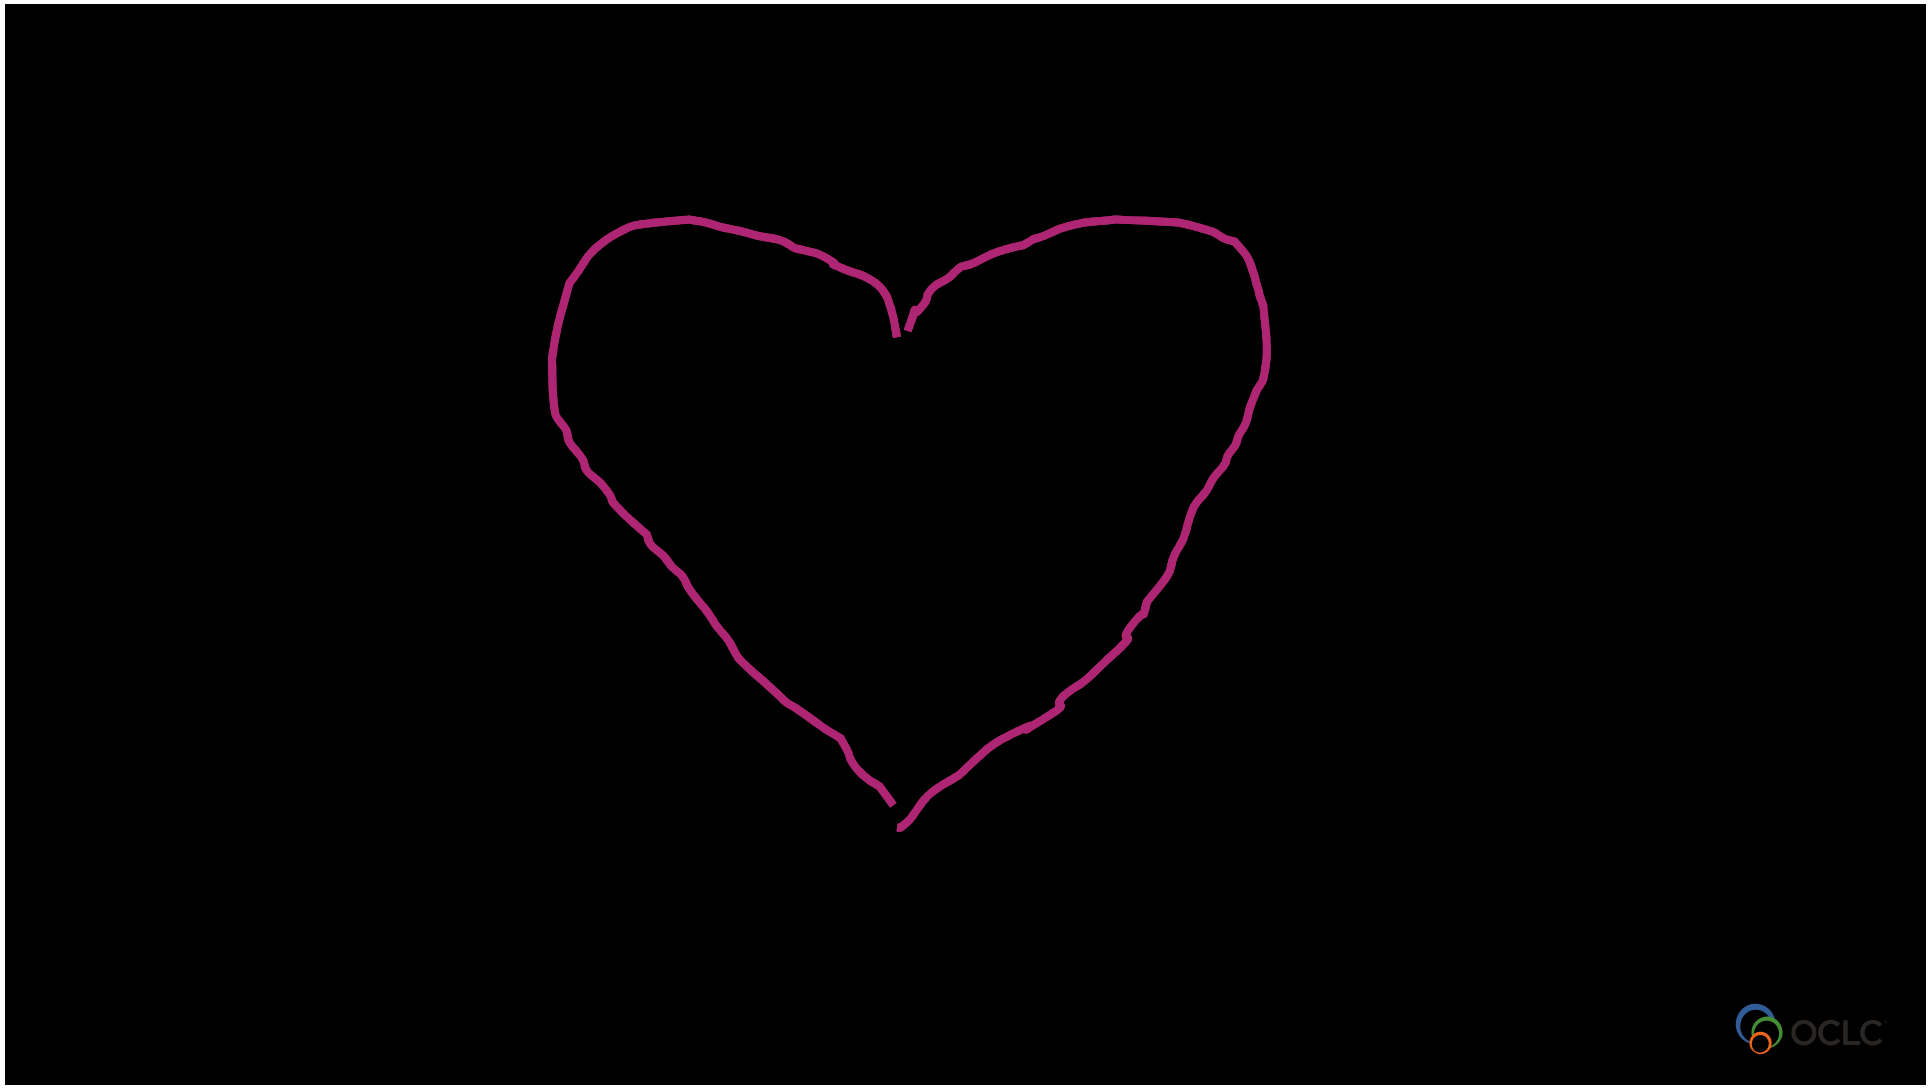
Dreams and realities of PID adoption in European research information management. A story of PID tactics.

Dr. Annette Dortmund

Sr. Product Manager / Research Consultant
OCLC EMEA

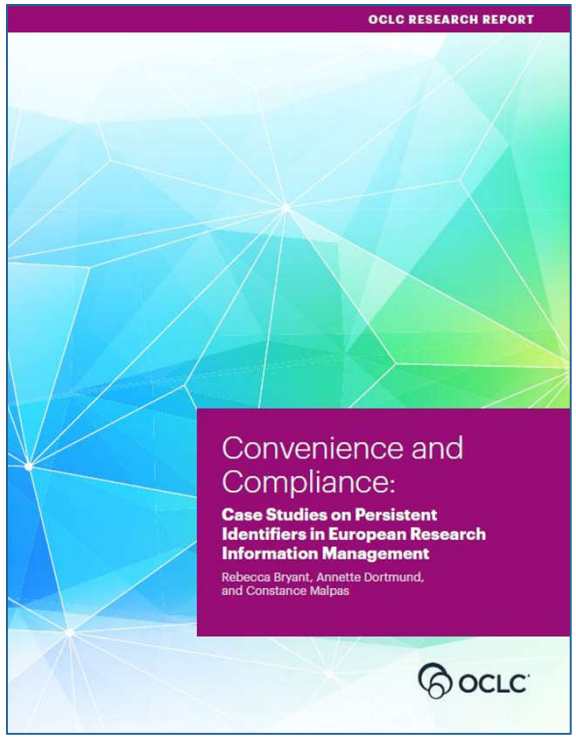
doi:10.6084/m9.figshare.5727011

OCLC



Storytellers

- Research project 2016/2017
- OCLC Research & LIBER
- Case studies on PIDs in European Research Information Management: Finland, Netherlands, Germany
- Report by @RebeccaBryant18, @ConstanceM, @libsun



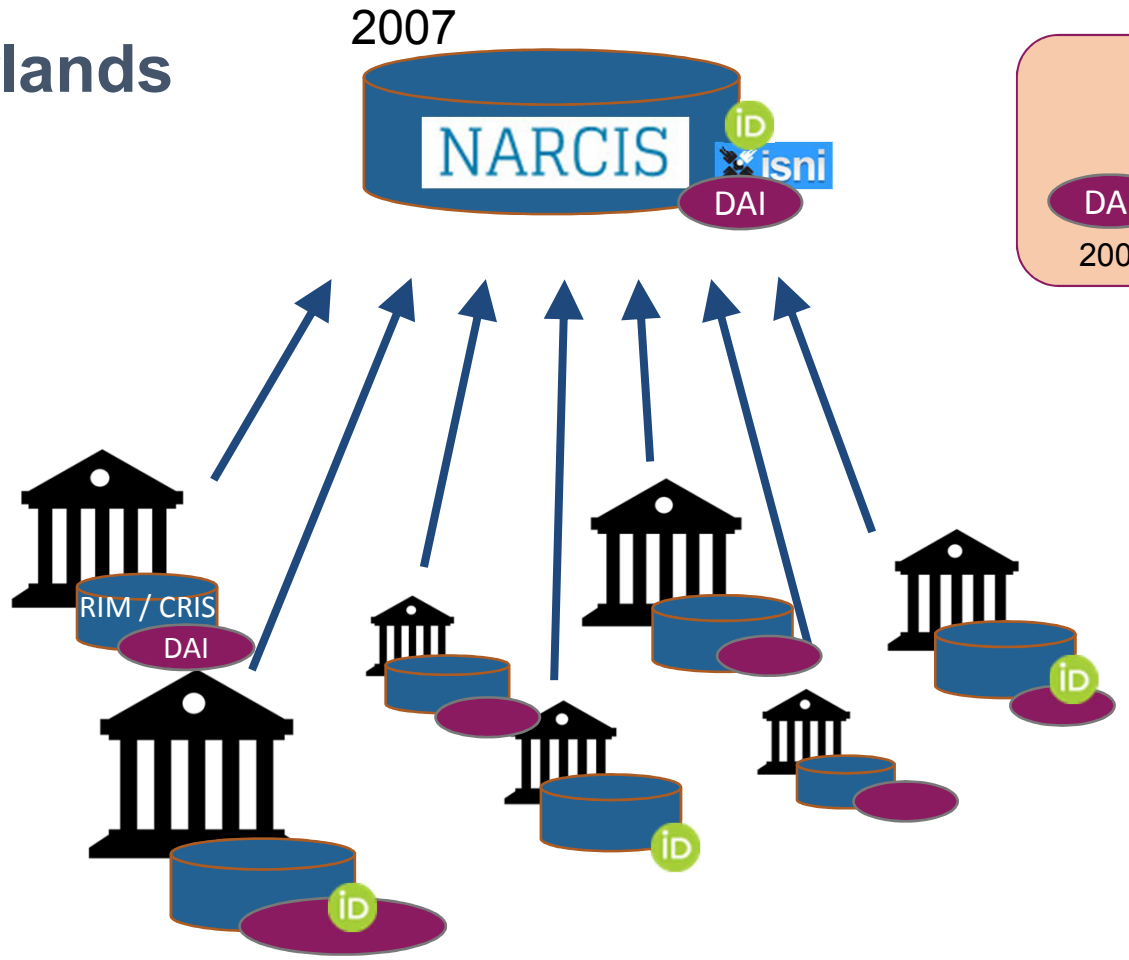
doi:10.25333/C32K7M
also via oc.lc/rim

PIDS THRIVING IN CONTEXT

Research Information Management at scale
in the Netherlands

OCLC

Netherlands



Person PIDs in use:

DAI

2005

→

OCLC

PID DRIVERS REALITY CHECK

OCLC

It is a standard.

It has potential.

It is required.

It facilitates scale.

It is a source of data.

It is a source of data.

→ It helps capture research activity and outputs efficiently.

Wait a minute: What about organizational PIDs?

Gosh, can‘t you just agree on a single one?

TACTICS TO TAKE AWAY

Tactics for lovers

- Don‘t talk about standards, good practice, better data, … even if that is what YOU them for.

- Focus on tangible benefits – solve someone‘s problem
- Focus on data workflows, not just identifiers
- Embrace scaled infrastructure (culturally sensitive)
- Embrace mandates (culturally sensitive)
- [Engage the library to help get researchers on board]

LET US TALK

Questions?

For me or for others?

Share your tactics story with us!

Spectacular failures?

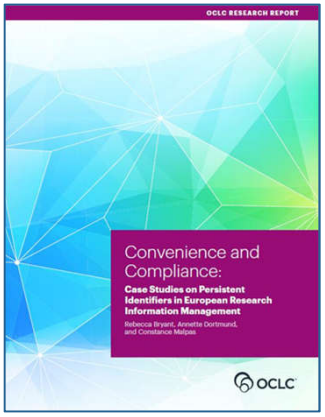
Surprising successes?

OCLC

Thank you!

Dr. Annette Dortmund
Sr. Product Manager / Research Consultant
https://orcid.org/0000-0003-1588-9749
@libsun
annette.dortmund@oclc.org

#OCLCResearch
oc.lc/rim



OCLC